

IFHE2022

September 19, 2022

Welcome One and All!

The three years since we, the Canadian Healthcare Engineering Society (CHES), last hosted a national conference seems like forever ago, but here we are. We knew four years ago when CHES was awarded the privilege to use this conference to also host the International Federation of Healthcare Engineering (IFHE) congress that it would be a special event ... and that was all before Covid.

Twenty plus months later, we've assembled a top-notch conference with a wide range of education sessions, international speakers, world class vendors and full range of social events for both our CHES members and our many peers from all over the world who have joined us today. This is all to maximize the return on investment of time, effort and money you've made to be here.

I appreciate the commitment and effort you have made to join us at our conference and hope it rejuvenates your passion to improve healthcare within your sphere of influence, increases your skill and knowledge base and recharges your overall well being.

Sincerely
Roger Holliss
CHES President
